

Eldoret. Creative firm opens co-working spa

■ Kikao64 has launched its first co-working space in Eldoret to Uasin Gishu County, targeting entrepreneurs in the North Rift region. Kikao executive director Elisabeth Klem said the organisation will provide a flexible and conducive environment for nurturing Eldoret's budding entrepreneurial ecosystem. Uasin Gishu Governor Jackson Mandeng, who officially opened the work hub, urged the residents to utilise the internet at Kikao64 to grow and expand their skills. [Peter Ochieng]
